Good morning!

Not long ago, I visited an extraordinary woman with actual healing powers.

The moment I passed through the French doors from her beautiful garden into her comfortable, inviting studio, I felt a wave of tranquility wash over me. The experience was so profound, I had to stop and look around. It was almost as if I'd stepped out of reality into an oasis of peace.

As I looked around the room I found myself drawn to the most extraordinary lamps placed strategically around the room. They looked as if they'd been carved from rock crystal and seemed to radiate a warm, soothing, amber glow.

I asked Alison, a good friend and leader in natural health and homeopathic remedies for 15 years, "What are those extraordinary lamps? Are they some kind of crystal?"

While I stood there, mesmerized, she said, "Yes, they're made from gigantic Himalayan pink salt crystals, and they have that effect on most people. Isn't it wonderful?"

"I love them", I replied. It was as if the crystals were drawing out of me the stress and anxiety that comes with living in the modern world.

Alison invited me to sit with her and went on to explain how the lamps are much more than simply attractive lighting. Because of the unique chemical structure of Himalayan salt crystals, these lamps are actually good for you. I know that sounds a little crazy...but it's the truth!

In fact, people from all over the world have been traveling to the Himalayas for hundreds of years to experience the almost supernatural effect of the salt that is unique to that area. Long before there was any scientific basis for understanding the health benefits, the locals and a few homeopathic experts-like Alison-understood the rejuvenating power of Himalayan salt crystal.

In fact, in Germany the hot salt springs are so revered companies often send overworked employees there to rejuvenate.

But how does it really work?

If you've ever experienced that surreal freshness of air around a thunderous waterfall, or at the seashore while the waves seem to pulse as they massage the sand at your feet, then you've experienced one of nature's little known secrets...negative ions in the air around you.

It's hard to describe that feeling, isn't it? The air feels fresher. It's even easier to breathe. You probably felt alive in a way that you haven't in a long time.

What you experienced was the result of negative ions. That's exactly what was happening to me as I entered Alison's studio. The negative ions were literally swarming over me, drawing out the tension and stress I'd carried in with me!

This happens in nature, too. Before a thunderstorm hits, you can feel the buildup of tension in the air as the positive ions accumulate and are reaching their peak. When the storm hits, that air produces an electrical charge in the atmosphere and rain begins to fall. The result is an oxygen-rich air that is bursting with negative ions.

As the storm passes, what you feel is the result; air that is calmed by that triumph of negative ions.

Himalayan Salt Crystals Can Reverse the Damage Caused by Electronic Devices...

Have you ever taken a long ride in a rough truck or vehicle that vibrates constantly? You get to the point where your sense are all numbed and maybe a headache starts to come on? Even when you get out of the vehicle you still feel all jumpy and numb, right?

Well, while you're watching television or staring at your computer, your body is being exposed to frequency vibrations 20 times higher and faster than your own brainwaves. These are frequency vibrations your body simply isn't used to. Your body has no natural method of coping with these vibrations.

That's because you're being swarmed by positive ions generated by these electronics! The consequences of being immersed in positive ions every day include nervousness, insomnia, stress, difficulty concentrating and cell stress from the build-up of free radicals! Damage at the cellular level!

The Science Behind the Healing Power of Salt Lamps

Scientific testing has discovered just how crystal salt lamps increase the number of negative ions in the air.

It's quite simple really... a heated crystal salt lamp:

- Attracts humidity causing the surface of the salt crystal to become moist
- Creates a buildup of ions and removes moisture from your air
- Binds excessive positive ions with their negative ions
- Helps to neutralize the "electro-smog" in your air and reduces allergens and irritants

- Creates potential soothing effects for you from multi-colored salt crystals

And the result is you feel at peace with the world, more joyful and more energetic! Are your current lamps doing that for you? I doubt it!

What is Peace, Happiness and Contentment Worth?

If you're anything like me, you watch your budget pretty closely. As I looked at the beautiful lamps radiating serenity into the room, I assumed they would cost a small fortune to bring all the way from the Himalayas.

But when I asked Alison how much they cost, I was shocked! I would have considered them a bargain at three times the price she paid. I was so impressed with both the beauty of the lamp and their power to bring peace into a living or work space, I tracked down the supplier deep in mainland China and negotiated an extraordinary arrangement to buy up as many of the lamps as I could get my hands on.

I'll be honest, I wanted them for myself...in my home, in my office, and around the people I care about.

But I managed to get enough for you as well. You can fill your home or workplace with beauty and tranquility and experience that same peace I did when I first walked into Alison's home. And, four of these stunning lamps are less than the cost of those ugly ionizing air filters you might already own!

Just imagine a few days from now, having a sanctuary of serenity in every room in your home, an oasis of peace in the middle of a hectic, crazy world.

That dream can become reality. But I only have a limited quantity of lamps, and I don't know how long it will be before I can get more in. So if you'd like to create a sanctuary of your own, just like Alison's, I encourage you to order now, before it's too late.
